VOLUME TWENTY-SEVEN

Amid the clang and clatter of modern living shadowed by strikes, water shortage, traffic jams, crowds, high-pressured advertisements, misleading literature and wars, brightened by a visit from the Sovereign Pontiff, peace proposals, liturgical renewal, anti-poverty programs and educational advances, youth pauses for some consideration of goals, some recasting of values, some shifting of perspectives. For one brief moment flashes the distant goal—life with Christ in an eternal hereafter—the intensity of the flash being such that it reaches down to this very NOW, pulling into line one's thinking and acting. How to span the distance from the NOW to the THEN, how to get to where one is going is the reason for Dominican. Secretarial skills are the school's specialty; many times each day do they yield to the humanities, the backbone of the school. The play and counterplay of thoughts and ideas originating from teachers, fellow students, visiting lecturers, personnel, from audio-visual aids, from all types of reading material shape and reshape, do or undo perspectives of all kinds: social ones, economic ones, spiritual ones, cultural ones. From the push and pull of vistas, the broadening and narrowing of roadways emerges the senior—the cultured Christian—informed, skilled, accomplished.

Dear Barbara,
Good luck always to a great girl. I hope you have an absolutely fabulous summer.
Stay as sweet as you are now.
Love,
Marion Romano

Our Principal

Concerned with the near and the far of things, influenced by trends and movements, totally interested in the moral, scholastic and social development of teenagers, our Principal is ever on the scene. Now at her desk, now on the platform, sometimes in the classroom, often in the general office, Sister Lawrence Joseph is there to guide and guard, to advise and encourage.

SISTER LAWRENCE JOSEPH, O.P.

Our Spiritual Counselor

Reachable, available, sociable—that is our Padre! Ever prodigal with his time and good counsel, Father Hoefner has added a new dimension to school life at Dominican. Friday Mass for which we plan our own hymns, private and group discussions, Bible vigils are experiences which we shall not forget. He comforts us in our sorrows, warns in our dangers, strengthens in our weakness and shares in our fun!

Burn always a fire of knowledge—never let pleasure smother the flame.

VERITAS

Friday is Father Hoefner's day, and informal chats are part of the program.

the curriculum

Renovation, adaptation, commitment, confrontation—the words vary but the goals are constant: to make Christ present in the world today. The call of Pope Paul to all the members of the Church, the People of God, to look into themselves and discover how each is to live in accordance with God's plan reaches down to the teen-agers of the Mystical Body. Thus students follow a religion program that is deep, wide and comprehensive; philosophical, theological and practical. The life of Christ and the study of the Old and New Testament, the sacraments and grace, the history of the Church, the Commandments, the mysteries of the Faith, apologetics —all are specially treated so that to the students may be addressed the words of Isaias to the new Jerusalem:

Rise up in splendor! Your light has come,
the glory of the Lord shines upon you . . .
Nations shall walk by your light,
and kings by your shining radiance.

Opportunities to question and to wonder about the universe, to observe and classify the observations, to hypothesize or make educated guesses, to experiment, to reach tentative conclusions and to set forth accurately the total procedure—all have a place in the biology course. Living things and all their manifestations call for a program of study that advances from the cell to protists, to plants and animals, to man. Molecular and cellular biology give way to reproduction and genetics, which lead to evolution. Students acquire a basic structure of biological principles which easily lead to further concepts and facts. The wonder grows as the days pile up. In the words of the poet:

"To him who in the love of Nature holds
Communion with her visible forms, she speaks
A various language."

Mathematics develop thought

After a study of the concept of sets, students turn their attention to inequalities and equations, the properties of real numbers, their distributive, associative and commutative laws, and their application to polynomials and fractions. Problem solving, inductive and deductive reasoning leads into tenth year where the spotlight beams on business. Situations, forms, and methods actually in use in business receive close attention. Speed and accuracy are never lost sight of as each new unit is studied. Then, tenth year math integrates geometry with arithmetic and algebra. In definitions, postulates, and theorems, a rigid and exact language is required. Treating congruence, parallelism, quadrilaterals, circles, similarity and the like, students learn to think creatively and critically.

Forty minutes of English, five days a week, plus outside reading and papers, keep the students of English so very occupied! Along with the sharpening of spelling and vocabulary skills there are structural habits to master, writing techniques to develop and literary thoughts to analyze. American and English poets, novelists, biographers, and essayists of the past and present, have riches to give to those who read. Thus reading improvement is the aim of each student, improvement that becomes articulate in the speech class where forums, discussions, and debates call for a background of thoughts and ideas. Correct and effective reading, writing, and speaking; logical thinking, intelligent choosing, fair criticizing are the goals of the English course, aiming to send forth to the business world young adults ready for articulate, intelligent leadership.

If the world would stand still for awhile and give students a chance to "catch up", perhaps the maze of history would be less formidable. Ninth year students investigate the cultures of the non-western world—Africa, India, China, the rim of Asia—and gain an awareness of the geographical, historical and economic aspects of these cultures. In tenth year the scenes shift to Europe under the name of world history. In years eleven and twelve the emphasis is on American history with the spotlight moving from government, to the problems of democracy and to foreign relations. Utilizing television, radio, film strips, newspapers, magazines and other supplementary readings, students journey from the present to the past, back to the present, and on to the future.

Basic to business education are shorthand, typing, filing, business English, business law, bookkeeping and office practice. Students must develop skills, attitudes, and values. Some will be secretaries, reaching for definite goals in shorthand and typing: 110 to 120 words per minute in the former; 60 to 70 in the latter. Others prepare for general office work. All become acquainted with the commonly used office machines, including electronic data processing equipment. They learn to operate the office, to coordinate and facilitate all facets of a business, industry, institution or professional practice. In addition to first-rate skills, students know that they must meet certain personal qualifications: character, integrity, consideration of others, ability to make judgments and to carry on effective human relations.

New York City's second language is Spanish. Neighbors, friends, fellow-bus passengers, pedestrians fill the air with Spanish speech and music. Newspapers, magazines, advertisements, and signs appear everywhere. Spanish is in vogue! Students follow a two year or three year sequence in their efforts to learn this popular language. Audio-lingual drills—intense and constant at the beginning—modify as the months pass and skills develop and lead into reading and writing stages. Units in art, music, and literature weave in and out of the lessons, leading students to a better understanding of a people with a background different from their own.

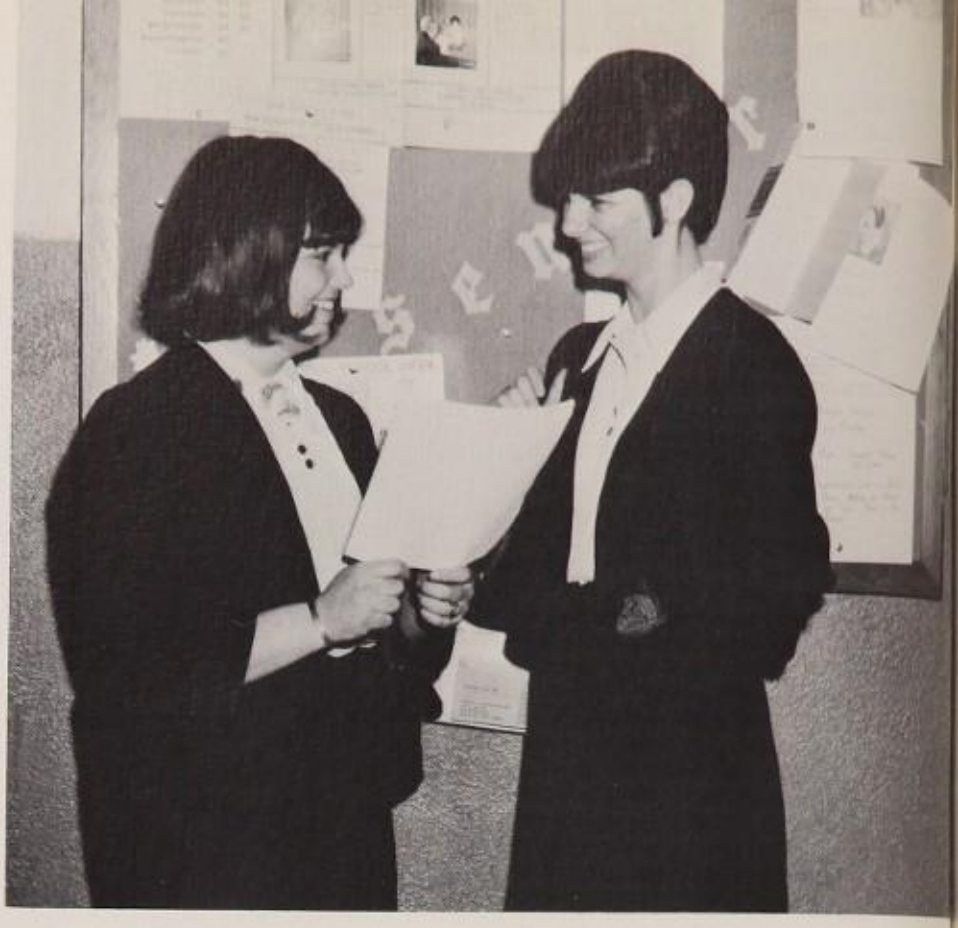
Gym classes strive for physical fitness. The basic posture points are reviewed; better breathing habits are acquired. Rhythm routines include: the rack, the toe touch, the slicer, the sit up, the side roll, the high kick, the cross-over-toe touch, the elbow push, the arch. Rhythm walking, precision marching, square dancing lead into ball room dancing. Dance floor decorum, basic steps, popular dances, and novelty numbers make the dancing period a weekly special.

A weekly music lesson is a must for all students. There they learn to read notes, to follow time signatures; they learn something of pitch, duration, volume, and timbre; and they learn to listen. The music of the masters comes in on stereo—lofty, inspiring, and uplifting, sending students onward with new perceptives that reach far beyond Rock 'n' Roll, country, and "the beat."

Sister Bernard Mary prepares Kathleen McCarthy for her first business interview.



Michele Visconti and Barbara Tonhazy compare positions and salaries as a prelude to job hunting.

Placement actualizes dreams

Business theory and practice becomes reality when students visit Dominican's placement office. There they will find the current facts relevant to the job of their choice; there they will find Sister Bernard Mary, placement director, who will put them on the line, arrange for an interview, and prepare them for that all important first impression. There, too, originate the lectures and talks given by personnel from various business firms in the metropolitan area.

College Board results claim the attention of Sister Mary Aquinas, Bonnie Roach, Jeanne Riepe, and Rita O'Hearn.

Guidance strengthens convictions

And if they are interested in college or have not quite decided on their future, students may visit the guidance room. College Boards, college requirements, scholarships, expenses, careers — whatever the interest, whatever the question — Sister Mary Aquinas has the answer.

Before deciding their careers, Patricia Capetta and Maryanne Mahoney visit the Guidance Room for information.

Imitating Mary students work for Christ

In the Legion

In keeping with the Church's program of ecumenism, students concentrate on others through the Legion of Mary and the Sodality. Their prayers and meditations overflow into the lives of the poor, the unfortunate, and the underprivileged. Sharing their time and blessings, their love and sympathies, followers of Mary develop a long, strong perspective that leads right to the heart of Christ.

Members of the Legion of Mary work on special assignments that will benefit others (standing) Nancy Simek, Patricia Albergo, Victoria Briggs, Mary Schworer; (seated) Carolynn McSorley, Elizabeth Blaney, Margaret Stehlin, Eileen Delaney, Mary Flynn, Geraldine Bove, Mary Bowen.

In the Sodality

Sister Jean Margaret discusses plans for the next meeting with Susan Mango, prefect, and Ellen Murphy, secretary.

in others

Dear Barbara,
Best of Luck in the future and may all your dreams come true.

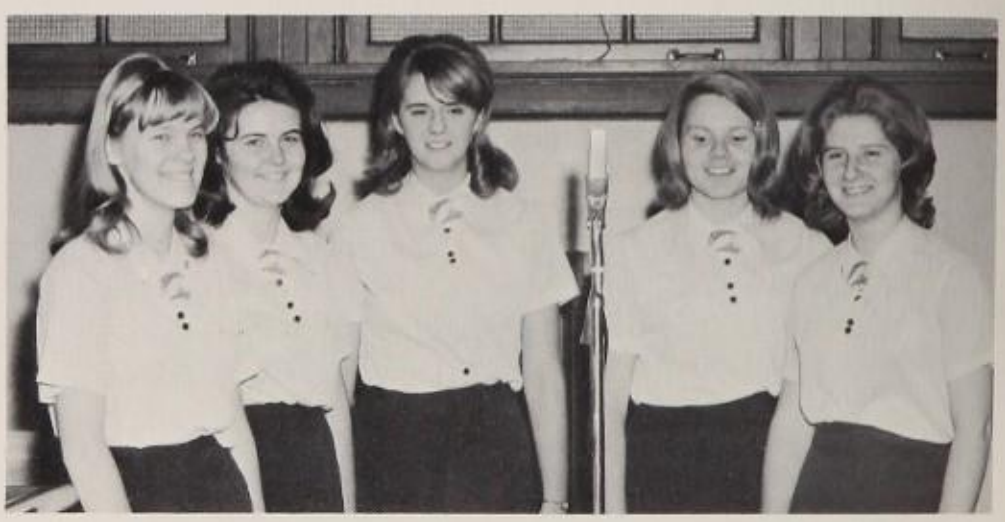
National Honor Society aims for excellence

Leaders of today in school, and potential leaders of tomorrow in a fast-moving world, the members of the National Honor Society are aware of their responsibility of promoting scholarship and character among all students. Sister Bernadette Marie, moderator, helps the members to uphold the ideals of the Society. Membership in the Society is a reward for service and industry, and affords an opportunity to reach for the Christian ideals of education.



Officers of the National Honor Society: Diane Geiser, Nora Bluight, Linda Sullivan, Valerie Wonson, and Kathleen Phelan.

At the induction ceremony, officers of the Business Honor Society await their turn to address the assembly: Theresa Gallo, Joanne Aidala, Brenda Shields, Michele Visconti, Dorothy Markey, and Elizabeth Sembrat.

In the spring of 1966 Dominican formally initiated the Monsignor Hald Chapter of the National Business Honor Society. Twin goals outlined by the moderator, Sister Mary Charity, call for scholarship and professional attitude. Excellence in business subjects plus sterling character traits plus leadership qualities spell out the accomplished DC senior, ready to take her place in the modern business world.

Miss Margaret L. Riley, school consultant of the New York Telephone Company, speaks to the seniors on the topic "What the Business World Expects of You."

Elizabeth Sembrat, mistress of ceremonies, opens the induction ceremony for the Business Honor Society.

YCS moves outward

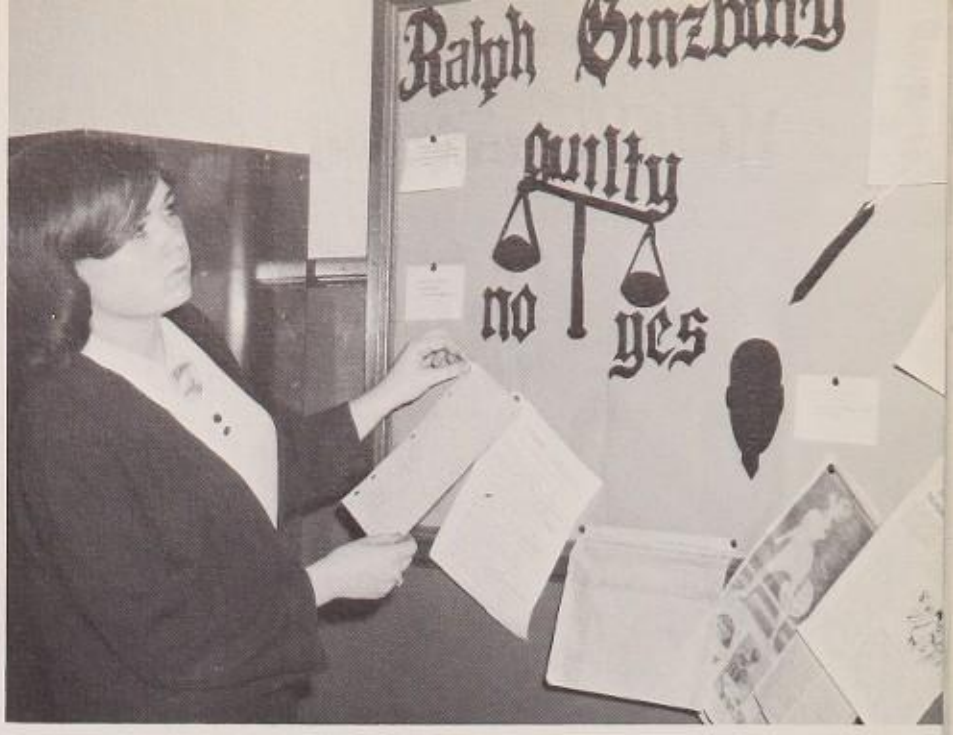
YCS is a movement of students committed to the ideals of Catholic Action. Sister Mary Anton and Sister Bernadette Therese instruct the YCSers in the work of helping themselves and others in their community fulfill their commitment to Christ in parish, school, and home.

Patricia McHenry, Loretta Radosta, Irene Callahan, Sharon Ragone, Elaine Roth, Carolyn Nuara, Barbara Brown, Catherine Caporaso, Margaret Skeggs, Eileen Manser, and Irene Lattarulo belong to YCS leaders group. They are discussing Bishop McIntegart's program on Anti-Poverty and just how the Young Christian Students can be of service.

Jean Arco, Laurette Ruddy, Cathryn Caporoso, Rosemary La Sorsa, and Eileen Ward gather letters for the boys in Vietnam.

Sister Mary Anton and Barbara Feeney, president of YCS, inspect the Dooley Kits before shipment.

CDL supports Leaders in decency fight



In charge of the CDL bulletin is Patricia Haensel.

In planning their battle for decency, Noel Theisen and Lois Burke listen to the taped radio program of Ralph Ginsberg, publisher of FACT magazine.

Citizens for Decent Literature aim to have effected legislation which bans the selling of obscene literature to young people under eighteen. They attempt to inform the public of the harm such literature does to youth.

Under the direction of Sister Mary Norbert, Domincan CDLers do many things. They write letters to court judges, commending them for their decisions in favor of decency; they write to people in positions of authority, protesting indecent literature. Often they contact leading companies questioning their practice of advertising in indecent magazines. Students are proud to be a part of this great organization that reaches from coast to coast, are proud to be of service to Dr. William Riley, an outstanding defender and protector of youth.

Sealing and stamping of letters is Vincenza Loiodice's special task for CDL.

With the copying machine turning out perfect copies, Linda Gallo has time to share some jokes with Sister Mary Norbert.

CDLers, Diana Hinchcliff, Joan McCarthy, Lois Burke, Carolyn Schneider, Joann Apicello and Patricia Groom hear the convention plans of Mr. James McGinniss, National CDL Convention director.

Dramatic Circle learns the critic's role

Stage movement, voice control, pantomime—all the fundamentals of the dramatic arts are demonstrated to the members of the Dramatic Circle by a true master of the arts, Mrs. Delaney. Not only are the members instructed in the art of drama, but they also are introduced to theatrical history. Then, too, current plays are discussed and students learn something of the critic's art.

The spring play, climax of the Circle's year was ONE WITH THE FLAME—the thrilling account of the Maid of Orleans, Joan of Arc. Dealing with this play students understand how drama reaches into the very depths of the soul, affecting both actor and audience.

Catherine Schmitt and Irene Laskowski dance the Landler in THE SOUND OF MUSIC.

Mary Nuccio (Captain Von Trapp) in her effort to execute a good Landler with Maria, fails to complete her costume in time.

Prior to curtain time, the backstage show is played by Linda Jaklitsch, Kathleen Bohenick, Lorraine Blakeney, Joyce Paneck, Diane Geiser, Geraldine Monaldi, and Antoinette Gentili.

Joan McCarthy, Patricia Groom, Veronica McCann, (Mother Abbess), Dianna Hinchcliff and Deborah Flinn play the role of nuns in THE SOUND OF MUSIC.

Taking part in the ballroom scene are Beverly Manley, Felicia Cinquemani, Susan Mango, and Marion Dennison.

At the senior assembly, Linda Jaklitsch and Antoinette Gentile play a role in JOE'S GIRL.

Linda Kearns (Friederick), Lois Burke (Brigitta) and Noel Theisen (Marta) play the children's roles in THE SOUND OF MUSIC.

Corps facilitates things

Margaret Nugent is a member of DC's color guard.

Open School Day finds Eileen Ward and Jean Arco directing the guests, such as Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cacciola.

Acting as cashiers in the cafeteria, keeping order in the halls, ushering at assemblies and plays, and serving as hostesses when occasion demands—the members of the Dominican Corps perform the duties which keep DC free from mishap and a pleasant place to visit. The wearers of the gold Corps button touch every phase of DC life. Sister Marie de Lourdes and Sister George Bernard, together with their sections, have the respect of everyone who benefits from their services in Dominican.

Another Corps duty relates to assembly procedure. Linda Biancaniello, Mary Cassidy, Francine Ziniti, and Virginia Lonnie await the arrival of their charges.

Red Cross focuses on others

Cutting and snipping and sewing according to Sister Maureen Thomas' directions lead to delightful creations destined for some unfortunate children.

Christine Schindler interrupts her lunch to explain Dooley Kits to Bernice Brancato and Antoinette Guiseppone.

To assist the Red Cross in its efforts to ease the burdens of the underprivileged and afflicted, Dominican conducts a Red Cross Youth chapter. Its special assignment centers around assistance to the Big Sisters. This explains the nature of the tasks they undertake during their weekly meeting: the sewing of simple garments, the stuffing of animals, the making and filling of Dooley kits for the children of Vietnam. Some DCites serve as typists in the Jamaica Red Cross chapter; others take on a home assignment of making cookies. Sister Christine Mary and Sister Maureen Thomas plan the projects and supervise their execution.

Glee Club gathers a repertory

Every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon the empty halls of Dominican ring with the music of the Glee Club. Under the direction of Sister Christophine and Mrs. Joseph Mullally, the songsters raise their voices in many kinds of song—sacred, opera, popular. But whether they are singing Puccini to an organ accompaniment, or folk songs a capella, one thing is certain—the Dominican Glee Club is a delight to hear and deserving of the numerous trophies they have won with their musical talent and enthusiasm.

MRS. JOSEPH MULLALLY

Junior members: (bottom row) Eileen Kelly, Theresa Rehberges, Rosemarie Cipriani, Elfride Bleicher, Patricia Hannigan, Rita Ryan, Catherine Cooper, Frances Waldron; (second row) Karen Abbruzzese, Joanne Perri, Rita Antoniello, Susan Hallenback, Mary Eagan, Jacqueline Cavalla, Virginia Martino, Nancy Greer; (third row) Mary Gironda, Joann De Rosa, Barbara McCormick, Jo Ann Colombo, Louise Gelato, Patricia McCooey, Valerie Limbach, Dorothy Lynch, Annette Lukasick; (fourth row) Cheryl Fruggiero, Eileen Catalano, Carmela Bonanno, Maureen Cummings, Constance Hille, Jean Molloy, Emilia Marano, Jill Quinn, Patricia Kaph; (fifth row) Nina Arena, Rita Taylor, Cathy Bancroft, Jean Pohlman, Jane Corcoran, Janet Corris, Mary Wetzel, Mary Ellsworth, Susan Bauer.

Piano: Diane Wilson, Jane Velsmid, Kathleen Klees, Annice Morton, Josephine Traversa.

Orchestra provides entertainment

Percussion: Kathy Tufuri, Helen Mancini, Irene Jordan, Christine Braue.

Daily practice and a knowledge of melody and harmony bring skill to each member of DC's orchestra. A growing familiarity with the instrument, patient tutoring by Sister Christophine and Sister Jean Margaret, and weekly sessions with Mr. Condosta develop a sound and feeling to the orchestra that is rewarding for all its members. Concert numbers for Spring '66 include Battle Hymn of the Republic, Carmen, and The Syncopated Clock.

MR. S. EUGENE CONDOSTA
Director

Wind Instruments: Dorothy Brink, Ellen Smith, Angela Marino, Ann Miele, Margaret Lonigro, Nancy Simek, Ann Minie, Christine Reichert, Ann Cunningham, Lorraine Sangirardi, Elizabeth Alomar, Ellen Gieser, Geraldine Jackne, Barbara Kircher, Karen Hammersly, Lorraine Smith, Mary Nuccio, Patricia Groom.

Speech Club produces leaders

Edna Daly, Sharon Vollmuth, and Eileen Gorey prepare their briefs for the debate topic: "That the Government Should Adopt a Policy of Compulsory Arbitration in Labor Disputes in Basic Industries."

A member of the Speech Club must know what to say, how to say it, and how to impress her listeners in the execution of an oration, original speech, or humorous monologue. Many prefer to speak extemporaneously on world affairs and social problems.

A Debator must be familiar with the basics of briefs, evidences, and rebuttals. After these are mastered, she may then offer her opinion on propositions such as: Should the Federal Government adopt a program of compulsory arbitration in labor-management disputes of basic industries.

Cathy Vaughan practices PYRAMUS and THISBE for the next tournament of humorous interpretation.

Francesa Monteleone addresses the junior assembly.

Mary Ann Vesey, DC alumna attending Hunter College, coaches Anne Marie Gallo in the art of public speaking.

Baton requires practice

Dolores Backus poses with her third place trophy won in the Northport Senior High competition.

Freshmen: Eileen Geiser and Kathleen Heine tune up for competition.

The prize winning Cordettes are: Geraldine McCarren, Ellen Murphy, Deborah Blakley, and Kathleen Sloane.

Moderators Sister William Marie and Sister Mary Mark encourage and criticize, and the girls of Dominican's Baton Club learn how to march crisply through a lively repertoire of flips and pinwheels. Only constant practice and tireless devotion can bring that extra measure of grace and rhythm to a pretzel or a mixing bowl—twirls which mean victory to the club. Public appearances of the Baton Club include CYO parades, parish contests, and competitions sponsored by the Eastern Seaboard Twirling Association.

DC twirlers include Joan Keifer (treasurer), Theresa Pelitsh (secretary), Kathleen Byrnes, Patricia Staples (vice-president), Jacqueline Tartaro (president), Mary Pizzano, Mary Byrnes, and Rosemary Ficalora.

To Barbara,
You a swell kid always stay that love ya,

Terry

Math Club calls for thinkers

Learning to handle the slide rule are Mary Linkletter, Mary Cahill, Susan Gaffney, Ellen Flynn, Janet Mattes, Elizabeth Reynolds, Joann Aidola, Anna Shaver, Antoinette Esposito, Marilyn Del Rosso, Linda Penn, Brenda Shields, Noreen Duffy, Maryann Simins, and Florence Camardella.

Since Math Eleven and Twelve are not included in DC's math program, Sister Adam Joseph conducts a Math Club for all interested students. Here they may further the theories learned in Tenth Year, dip into the study of statistics and graph reading and generally plunge into the world of fascinating mathematics.

With Kathleen Leiser, Joan Nejes, Lorraine Malanaskis, and Linda Jaklitsch checking, Sister Adam Joseph interprets the slide rule to Suzanne Venter.

Spanish Club establishes new contacts

At the weekly meeting, club members enjoy each other's Spanish.

Songs, stories, skits, and games fill the minutes of the Spanish Club meeting. Informal dialogue, minus the frame of classroom formality, brings ease and assurance as it erases strain and self-consciousness. Spanish movies and lectures, visits to museums and restaurants add color and variety to the club's activities.

Members gather for a meal in Fonda restaurant, New York.

In tune with the atmosphere Kathleen Bohenick and Marion Hughes make Spanish phone calls.

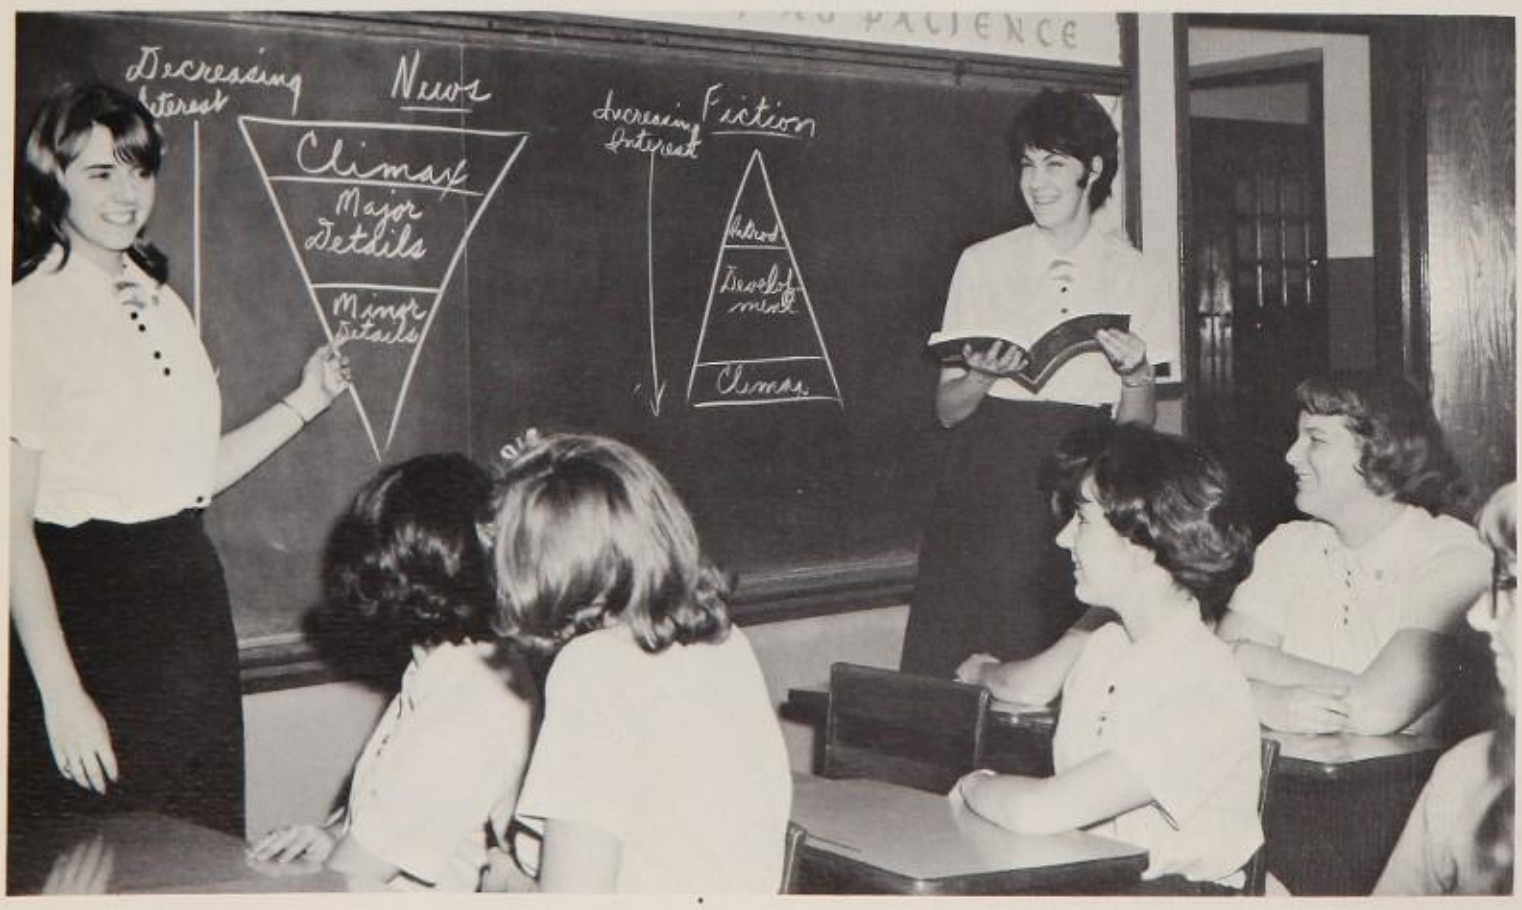
President, Diane Geiser, takes care of the financial part of the meal.

Staff does depth study of the school

COMMERCIALITE

The school paper tells many things about a school: its ideals and goals, its shades and bright spots, its moods and whims, its joys and gripes. Practice in the telling of all these factors follows upon the instruction periods conducted by Sister Mary Grace. To be objective, to be accurate, to be thorough; to be imaginative, to be lively, to be interesting: to be all these things is to be a member of DC's COMMERCIALITE staff.

Nancy Regan, Elizabeth Sembrat, Kathryn Skean prepare the layout for the next issue of THE COMMERCIALITE.



Linda Sullivan and Anne Thompson, editors, explain the difference between a news story and a fiction story to new members of THE COMMERCIALITE: Carole Carrano, Valerie Limback, Jacqueline Cavallo, and Elizabeth Bowman.

Noel Theisen (standing), feature writer for her neighborhood newspaper, shares her success with Sandra Donovan, Janis Dombrowski, and Patricia Mulleady.

Eileen Feretic, Roseanne Vitale, and Susan Latham make decisions on headline styles.

Taking a first look at finished products are Brenda Shields, Arlene Malek, Barbara Malek, Harriet Gaines, Jane Peters.

Staff reflects the spirit of the school

Editor Betty Baran primes the staff as to the business of the hour.

Finished copy falls under the scrutiny of Christine Bastedenbeck and Marian Dennison.

ANGELICUS

What to do and when and why and how are questions that merit most attention in the production of a book. Over the months students worked on one hundred twenty-eight pages and manipulated the evolution of the dummy. Ideas changed to sketches which gradually turned to photos and words! Step by step the saga of Dominican 1965-1966 materialized; fleetingly in the moment of actuality; everlastingly in the pictures and words of the staff. With Sister Mary William at the controls and Betty Baran and staff members acting as responsible, efficient agents, there was no alternative. Now THIS BOOK IS IT.

Editor Betty Baran and co-editors, Christine Bastedenbeck, Rose Mary Rafti, Jane Schlesinger, Susan Uhlick, Marguerita Wagner, and Joan Burke, discuss the procedures and problems of their yearbook.

Scaling, ruling, cutting, and pasting are the duties of Susan Latham, Susan Uhlick, Janis Johnson, and Barbara Tonhazy in charge of ANGELICUS lay-out.

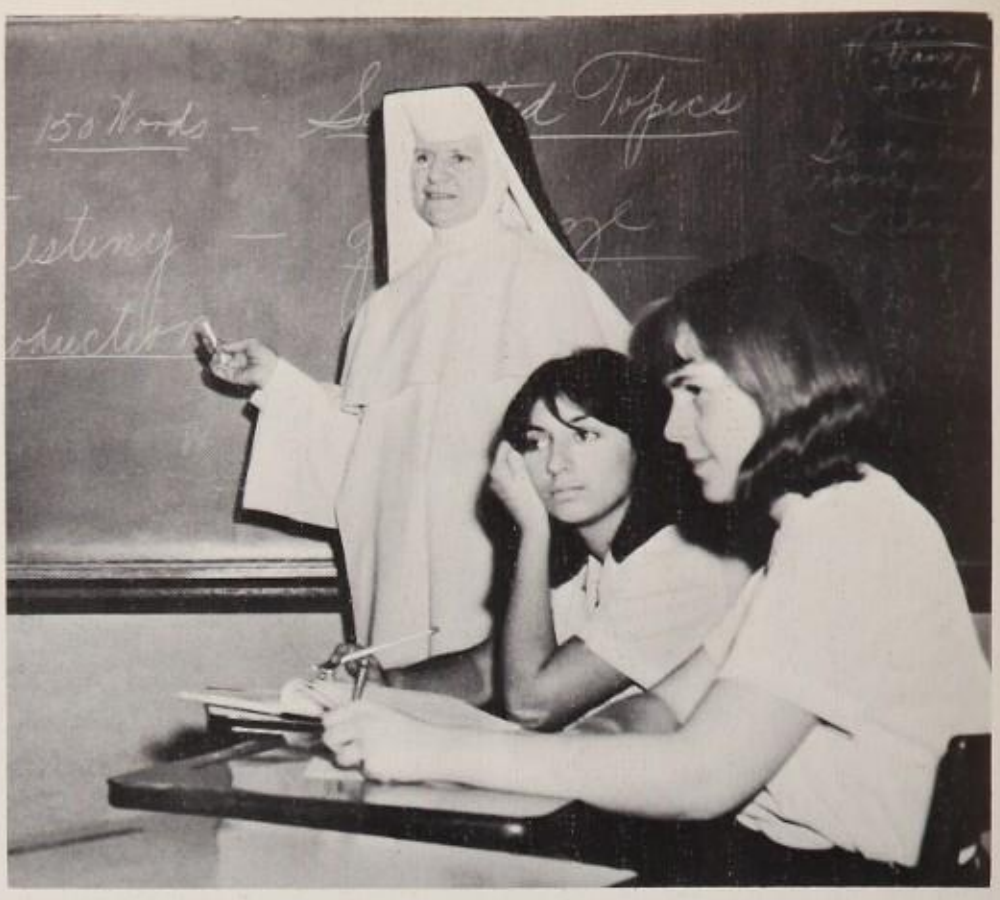
Felicia Cinquemani prepares to implement the theme — PERSPECTIVE — while Sheila Caraher, Marguerita Wagner, and Priscilla DeMarinis check the senior rostrum.

Quill and Spanish Shorthand offer special challenges

Membership in the Quill is for the researcher, the creator, the student who dares to be original. Techniques and suggestions are offered by Sister Bernadette Marie; models of all kinds are studied; then each is encouraged to launch out on her own. Poetry, essays, short stories, manuscripts of all kinds find a place in the writer's folder.



Camera catches Sister Bernadette Marie, Kathleen Tufuri and Carolyn McSorley in the midst of "creative" thinking.

From CRITIC to critic and on to originals Irene Jordan, Lisa Leonetti, Maureen Kelly, Bonnie Roach, Nancy Simek, Lorraine Kelly, and Theresa Mundo aim to develop their writing talents.

Interested in Spanish commercial correspondence, Donna Schiavone, Mary Ellen Mauser, Marieanne Noreyko, Maureen Walsh, Rosemary Ficalora, Susan Uhlick, and Jeanne Riepe gather after school to take a letter in Spanish via tape directed by Sister Mary Erica.

Something new has been added to the senior's list of activities—shorthand a la española. It is for the brave, the interested, the student who can take a little extra. Having pulled many students of English shorthand along the bumpy road of phonetics, Sister Mary Erica offers a unique experience to those interested in Spanish business correspondence. The instructions are based on the Pitman method.

Other special people in our school life

Sister Mary Madeline, C.I.J. holds a health conference with Kathleen Van Wagner.

School doctor, Helen Y. Kinos, M.D. administers the Tine test to Nancy Ward.

Smiling service for Father Hoefner is Mrs. Etta Callahan's delight.

Mr. William O'Brien checks school's fire safety equipment.

Frances Weidner, dietician, together with Mary Smith, Louise Scuderi and Doris Vetter, plans the menu for the week.

Parents support our school

FATHERS' CLUB

Fathers gather to support the projects of DC.

Student dances, Pop hops, joint parents' gatherings, father-daughter communion breakfast—affairs such as these are sponsored by our fathers and spell out their intense interest in all phases of our school life. The serious business of learning, of growing up is tempered by these social events offering hours of fun and music and a chance to make new friends.

Fathers' Club officers: George Brown, sergeant at arms; Andy McCormick, treasurer; Herb Shaver, vice-president; Steve O'Connell, committee man; Warren Dennison, president; (seated) John Musgrave, recording secretary.

At the Pop Hop—Patricia Dunn, Ellen Ryan, Mr. Raymond Ryan, Maureen Murray, Mr. William Murray, and Mr. Michael Dunn get to know each other.

Christine Reichert enjoys an evening with her father, Mr. Philip Reichert, at the Pop Hop.

Mr. John McCarthy and daughter Joan take part in the dancing contest held during the Pop Hop.

The Mothers' Christmas party offers a happy time to all.

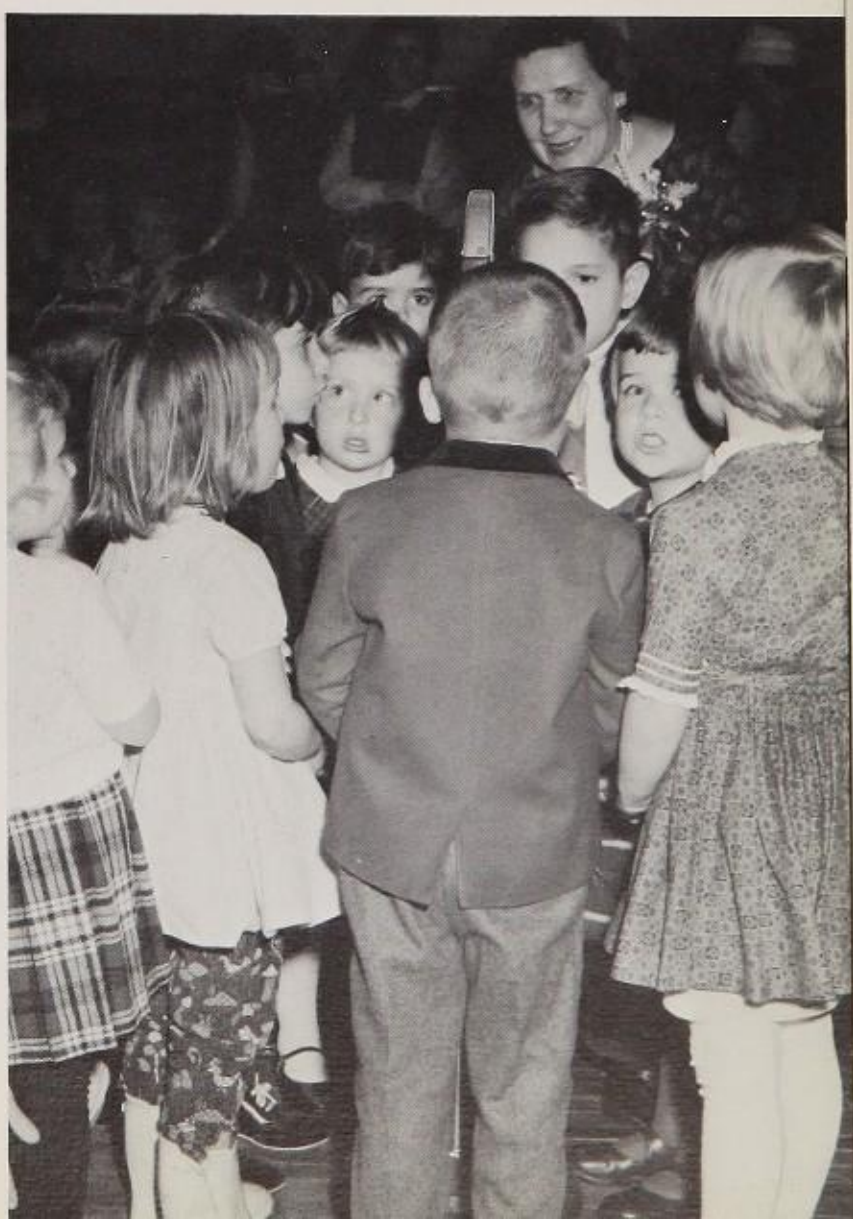
Mrs. Charles Busch shares in the plans of the Mother's Club officers: Mrs. Charles Kircher, treasurer; Mrs. Francis Wagner, president; Mrs. Herbert Shaver, secretary, and Mrs. Andrew McCormick, vice-president.

Mothers unite to support the projects of DC.

MOTHERS' CLUB

Mothers meet monthly and have their chances to offer new ideas, make suggestions, comment on trends and fads. Their near and far interest in us, their daughters, complements that of our teachers and thus we have double reasons for being grateful for the priceless gifts of their love and devotion.

Pre-school children accompany their Moms to the Christmas party and gather to sing a special.



And through the year we

Attended Mass

Developed skills

Checked bulletins

Visited the GO

Made a retreat in Amityville

Attended Family Life Conferences

Learned to use the Gestetner 360

Ate Lunch

Helped the Red Cross

Gave speeches

Sang at the Christmas assembly

Dressed up for Frolic

And entertained each other

And the children

We moved into spring

And danced

Received our rings

Met Sister Robert D. W.

Read books and dreamed!

Acknowledgments

The WAS, the IS, and the WILL BE tint, shape, change, prepare, determine our destiny. The year 1965-1966 played out in Dominican Commercial High School lengthened the perspective for some, relined it for others, and set all forward, tending to realize the dreams, the "long, long dreams" of youth.

HOW is the story of the ANGELICUS 1966. In the planning, executing, and realizing of our yearbook, we have had the interest, encouragement, and aid of many people. We wish to thank:

Sister Lawrence Joseph, O.P., our Principal
Reverend George E. Hoefner, our Spiritual Counselor
Sister Mary William, O.P., our Advisor and Photographer
Sister Mary Dolorata, O.P., Business Manager
All the members of the faculty
Miss Janine Uhlick of Keyloun Robe Co. for designing our portrait blouse
All at Jean Sardou Studio
Mr. Edward Bathmann and Rae Publishing Company
Mr. Frederick Schroeder for his special pictures of the Pope's visit and the aerial picture of our school.

Dear Barbara,
Best of Luck in our "Senior" Year. Can you believe that we're almost made it! Only a month more of this and then SENIORS!!! Always remember our vacations together, the "Fairs",
9-5, 10-5, & 11-3. Shall we try for 12-2??
Always) stay a sweet and great as you are.
We've been through a lot together and I see you at the lunch table.
Love,
Fran (your partners buddy)

Dear Barbara,
Let's all keep a Have a great "Senior" year. Enjoy everything
now & never regret
Karen

Dear Barbara,
Good Luck in your Senior year. Remember the fun we had sitting next to me another in Religion. Best Wishes to a sweet kid. Love,
Ellen

Dear Barbara,
May life bring you the fulfillment of all your dreams.
Always stay the great friend you have been to me.
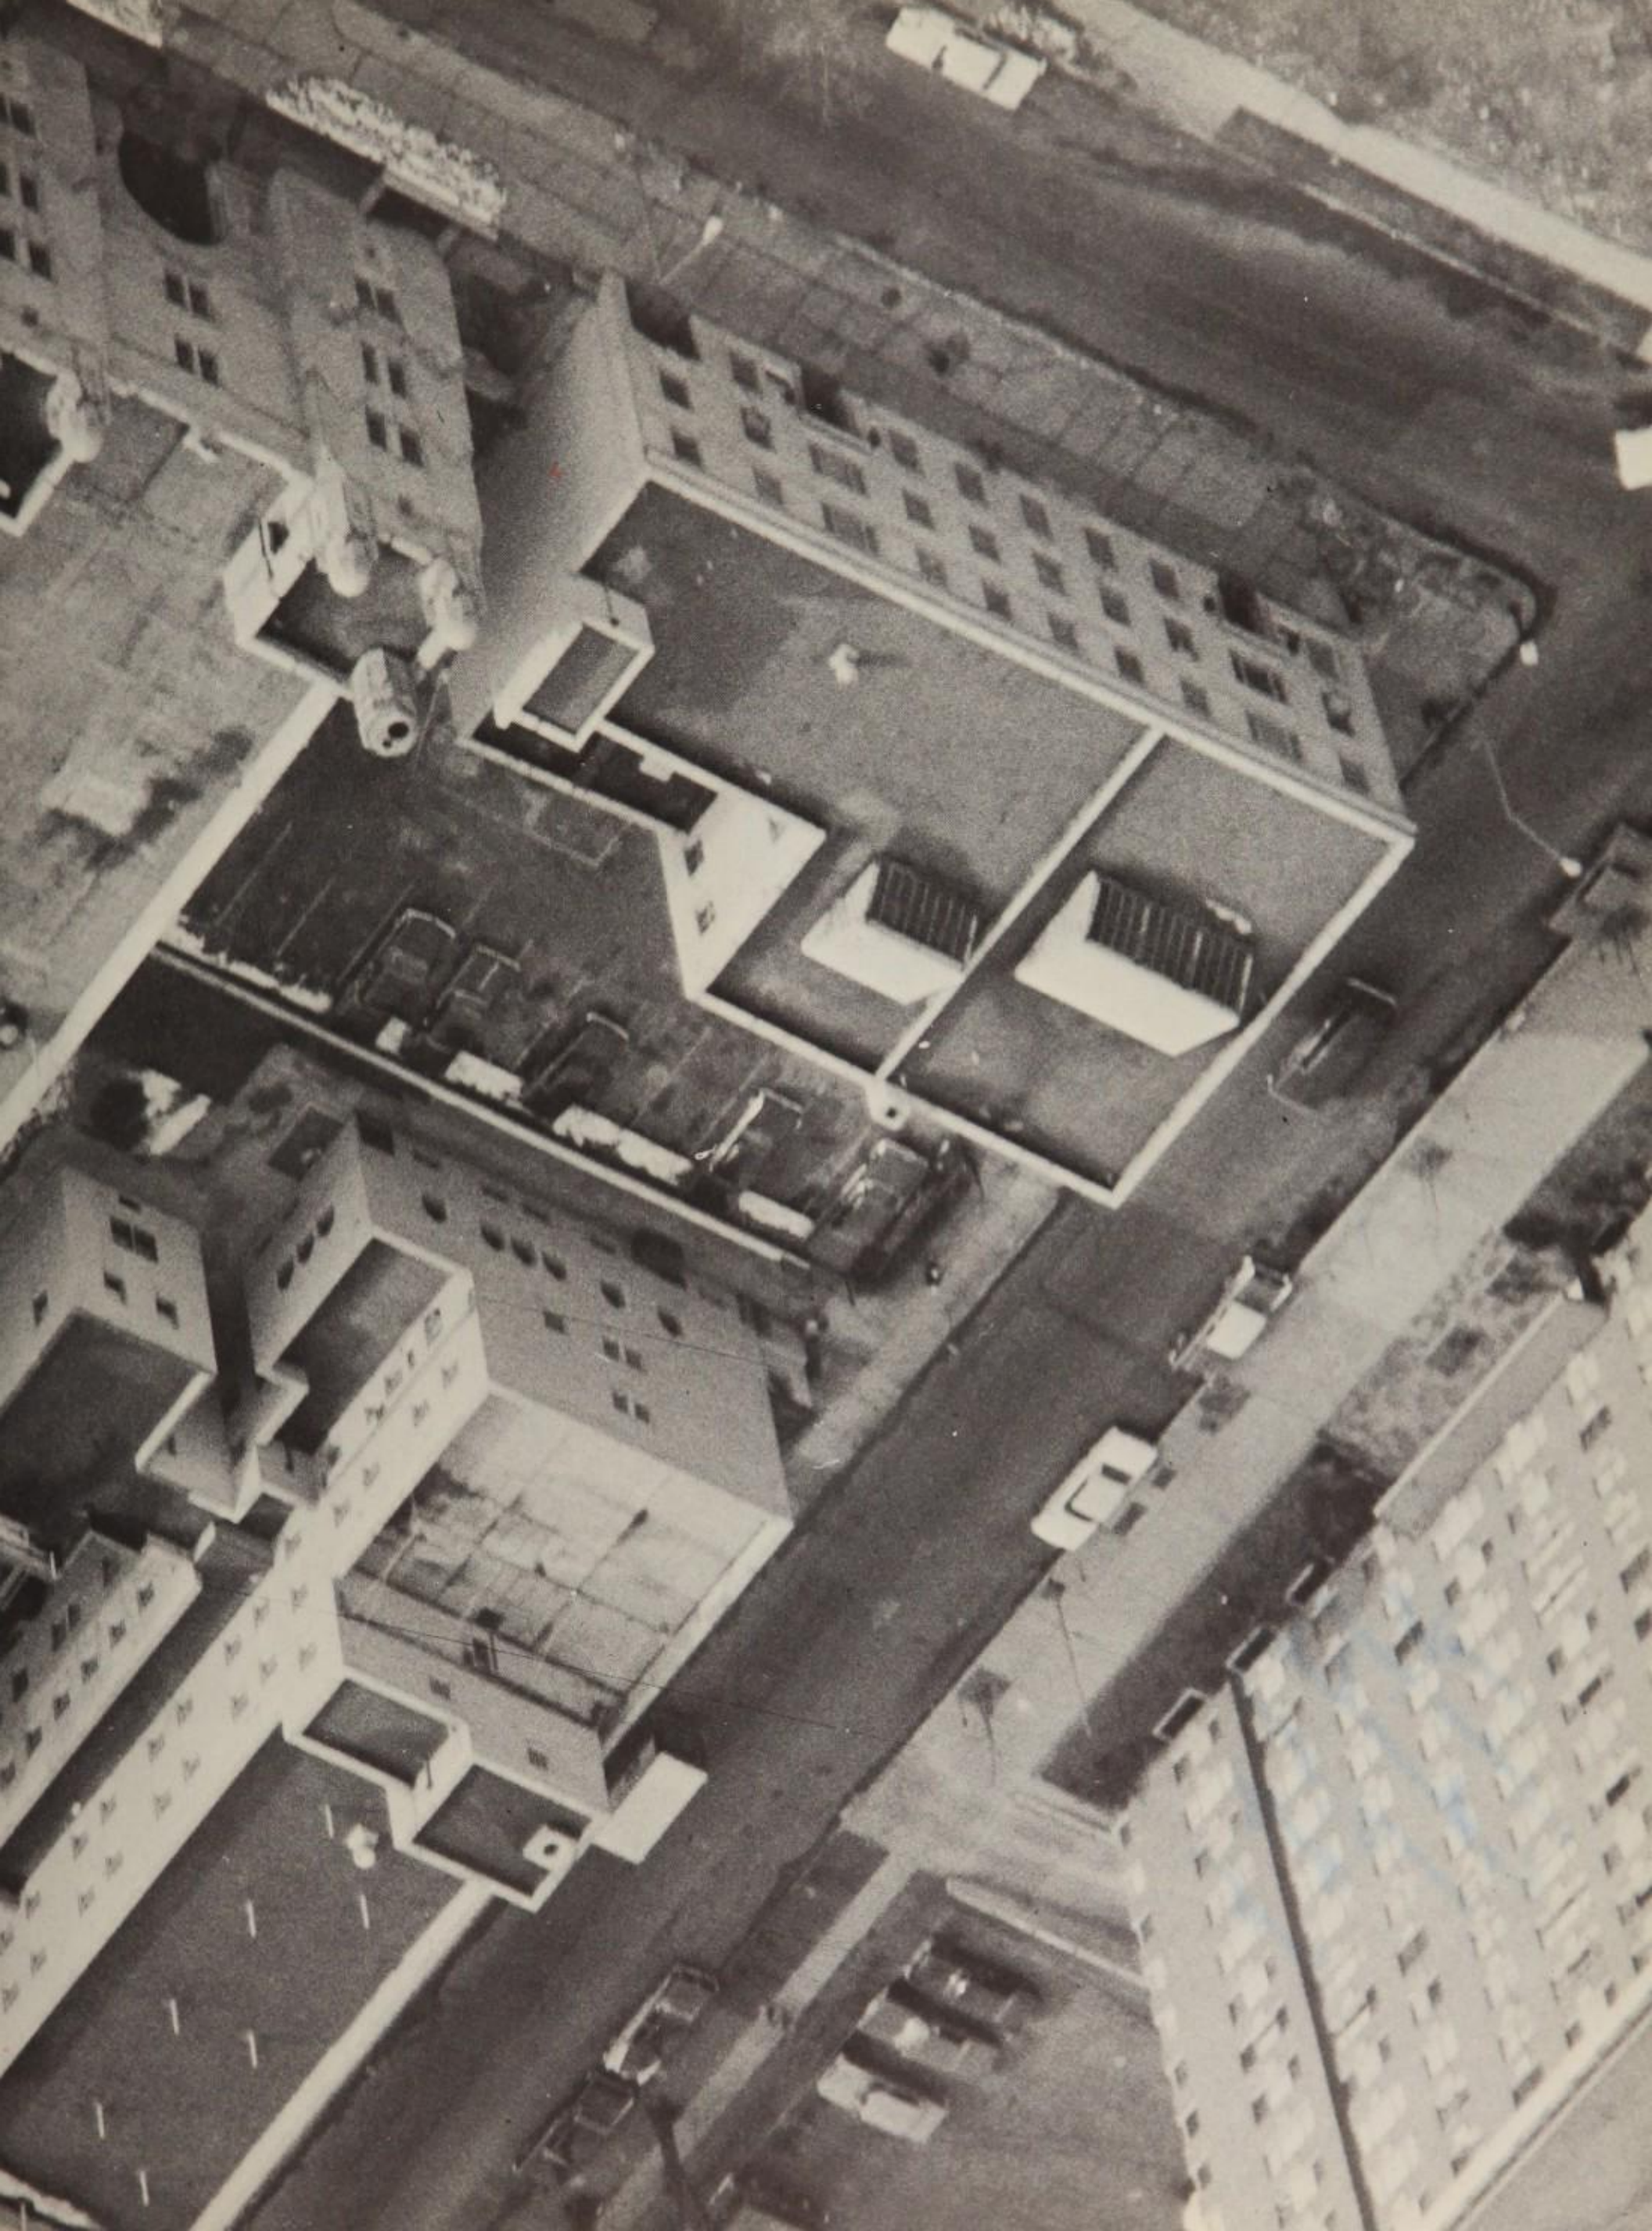
Love
Sue


Dear Barbara,
Across every mountain
across every stream
I'm counting on you to continue to dream & hope that your wishes are all fulfilled, because you're the girl who deserves
every thrill.
Love,
Barbara P.
